- Optimize transfusion practices with the goal of minimizing or eliminating unnecessary transfusions.
- Describe the evidence behind the various medications approved to treat obesity.
- Describe five choices employees can make to build and strengthen resilience and compassionate behaviors.

Program

Description

This one-day virtual conference is designed to provide registered nurses with:

- Current healthcare trends in patient care
- Innovative and informative updates specific to nursing care in the hospital setting

Key Note Speakers

Desiree Maya

SENIOR DIRECTOR

- Desiree has nearly two decades of experience in leading process improvement and change leadership efforts in complex health organizations across the United States and Canada. She has a successful track record of executing patient flow design, change & diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) initiatives, and tool implementations in community hospital, academic medical center, multi-facility system, and federal government settings in Epic, Cerner, and Meditech shops. Desiree is a certified executive coach, DEI expert, and an accredited Accelerating Implementation Methodology (AIM) coach, delivering expertise in change leadership and inclusion techniques.

- Desiree currently leads change management and leadership, DEI, and executive coaching endeavors in Huron's People Transformation Business Unit. This includes conducting assessment work to identify transformational opportunities, delivering change and DEI workshops, building strategic partnerships, and providing leadership coaching internally and with clients. She's passionate about expanding diversity awareness, elevating cultural competency, executing sustainable change, and building resilient leaders.

Karen Cook, R.N.

NATIONAL SPEAKER, AUTHOR

- A strong advocate of patient-centered care and cultures of safety, Karen is a national speaker known for her passionate, enthusiastic style and her ability to "get to the heart of the matter." She demonstrated her passion for quality patient care and served as the primary author of the HCAHPS toolkit. She has helped hospitals implement the HCAHPS survey since 2005, including participating in early focus groups with the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality. This work became a springboard for the popular and practical guide, The HCAHPS Handbook, published in 2010 by Fire Starter Publishing.

- With more than 30 years of experience in the healthcare industry, Karen has coached some of the largest healthcare systems in this country. Her nursing and administrative background provide the expertise necessary to help organizations favorably impact safe and quality patient care, employee loyalty, efficiency, professionalism, and profitability. Most important to her is building cultures of ownership. She believes that if we can create the kind of environment that employees enjoy and allows them to thrive and grow, they will create cultures of exceptional quality for those who come to us in their most vulnerable times of need.
